Abbassabad

Mr. George Clark, B. Arch. (Sydney) and Dip. TP (London), received his Master's Degree in City Planning at Massachusetts Institute of Technology. For 15 years he studied and worked in city and regional research in Australia, Italy, Great Britain and the United States. During the past 8 years he has been the Director of Clark, Gazzard and Partners and URBSEARCH, the Urban Research Center, a team of urban and regional economists and geographers. Mr. Clark has given particular attention to problems of urbanization in Asia and the Middle East, having visited and studied many cities in this area, especially in Pakistan and Iran.

Mr. Clark previously visited Iran in 1966. He has now returned to assist Kanesh Company which is advising the Iran National Plan Organization on urban planning and development policies and processes to be adopted under the Iranian Fourth National Plan.
