Cathedral Streets, it would comprise a seven-level podium on most of the site, with two hotel-motel high-rise buildings at each end.

With a total floor area of 70 acres the building would include a heated swimming pool, indoor tennis courts, major convention area and a recreational area based on the famous "Tivoli Gardens" in Copenhagen.

This would have landscaped areas, an aviary, museum, porpoise pool—the developers say they already have a tenant for this—ice skating rink,

NEW YORK, Thursday.—Shares which give a stake in 6,250 square miles of good Australian "top end" land are expected to go quickly when they are offered for sale in New York tomorrow.

Sir William Gunn's new company, Gunn Resources and Exploration Inc, is offering 100,000 shares at 10p each.

He is searching for the old gaslights which once graced the building and the 60lb brass and copper fittings which were removed from the roof in 1964. One or two of the turrets were held to be unsafe and the entire 66 were removed because it
