INVITATION

SYMPOSIUM

THE URBAN LAND INSTITUTE

The Institute was founded as a result of a common desire by members of various professional bodies and those vitally concerned with the orderly development of our Cities and Towns, to provide as one of its objectives a platform for the exchange of views on town planning, development, and re-development.

The membership comprises architects, builders, contractors, consulting engineers, developers, financiers, industrialists, real estate agents, solicitors, surveyors, town planners, valuers, including many who are not directly associated with urban development and re-development, but who support the Institute's objectives in these directions. A non-profit organisation with honorary administrative staff, the Institute has earned, by its very active and direct participation in public affairs, the accolades of various government and semi-government bodies as well as those of private enterprise.

Past conventions held, which enabled forthright and active discussions on matters of public importance, were—

- November 1967 "The Future growth of Melbourne and Geelong."
- November 1968 "The Impact of the Natural Resources Explosion on Urban Planning, Development and Re-development."
- May 1969 "Opportunity Australia — A Study in depth of the Westernport-Gippsland Regions."
- November 1969 "Opportunity Australia — Act Now or Lose by Default."
- November 1970 "Opportunity Australia — Total Community Development."
- November 1971 "Opportunity Australia — Impact of Finance on Development."

The Institute initiated last year "The Total Community Development Award" which is to be an annual award to the person who in the opinion of a panel appointed by the Institute has contributed most to community development in the past year. The first presentation of the award went most fittingly to the Deputy Premier and Chief Secretary of Victoria, the Hon. R. J. Hamer, E.D., M.P.

Solutions will involve the participation of governments, commerce and industry, and people as individual citizens.

The Board of Works has invited public comment and discussion on its recently released "Planning Policies For The Melbourne Metropolitan Region" and in introducing the Plan, the Chairman of the Board, Mr. A. H. Croxford, LL.B, states that the Board will be "looking to the public for suggestions to improve or alter the proposals".

This fact-finding Symposium is the first public examination by an independent body of the controversial Plan.

A select group of informed speakers will lead the Symposium in exploring such questions as —

- How does it affect you
- Will it control land prices
- Will it stop speculation
- How can conservation be assured
- What new problems will it produce
- Do satellite developments have a future

These and many other questions will be covered by the speakers and there will be ample opportunity for participation by delegates.
