Hills too high?

WOULD you kindly inform me . . .
By virtue of which aesthetic sense does Mr Hills, Minister for Local Government, presume to assume the sole authority (as disclosed by the Lord Mayor, Ald. Jensen) for planning of our Circular Quay?

Has he some hidden virtue which places him in a higher plane than eminent town planners for the Cumberland County Council? And who is to say that his unique ideas will be aesthetically acceptable to mere Sydney-siders, who put him into power as their representative?

If Mr Hills does not take care we will, once again, due to political interference, lose highly skilled and progressive town planners to our near sister States.

Is this a forerunner of further autocracy?
